Thank you very much for the report links!
I very much appreciate every route to further education and to prepare for district advocacy meetings.
Great presentations and discussion today.

Absolutely I would say the general public in the US is not paying attention to military expenditures, every other aspect of governance and how they're being funded and carried out.
Part of our advocacy and public education is to raise awareness of how many tax $$ are being sunk into military programs, some of which are not a good idea like this current topic, and certainly should have their funds distributed to constructive programs.
